Foreword

To give to you a complete revue of the year at Intermont—the hopes and aims and accomplishments of every member of our family—intermingled with our childhood memories of Mother Goose and her tribe, two years mascot of our class, is the aim of this volume

Dedication

To The Bristol Kiwanis Club
as a whole, and to each member individually, in appreciation of the many kindnesses and encouragements given us in the past years, and in memory of the many good times we have had with them, we lovingly dedicate this thirtieth volume of

The Intermont

History of Class of '30

NOW that we have finally reached the coveted position of Seniors, it is fitting that from our vantage-point we should look back over the years we have spent here together. We must think of the discouragements we faced and triumphed over; nor can we omit those pleasures planned for us by others; but we must review especially the things we have accomplished that will cause our class to be remembered by classes which will succeed it.

On the Saturday night after our arrival, the Y. W. A. and the Y. W. C. A. gave a party for the new girls. That was our first taste of Intermont social life. However in its wake followed two whole weeks of subservience to those same girls who had so kindly entertained us!

Our first indication of wisdom appeared in the election of officers for the Junior class. Louise Sims was chosen president, Lucille Clardy vice-president, Mary Alice Young secretary, and Opal Hebert treasurer.

Then came a proof of our sagacity—Miss Henry was chosen to be our Sponsor. Even now she holds that position, as well as a sure place in our hearts which she gained by her timely suggestions and her untiring efforts to point out the way to higher things.

The Junior-Senior banquet, given on April 22, was the highlight of our year as Juniors. At that time our mascot, the goose, came into prominence since the theme of the banquet was "Mother Goose." The same idea has been carried on to its culmination in this year's Annual which features everything from the "Queen of Hearts" to "Jack and Jill."

Commencement marked the close of a happy as well as successful year. The part we played in the exercises was small, yet it was enough to make us feel in some degree the regret that pervaded the entire Senior Class of 1929.

All other Junior history pales into insignificance when compared to the events of this year which saw their beginning in the organization of the Senior Class of 1930. Louise Sims is again our president, while Margaret Bentley is vice-president, Shirley Selfe secretary and Ludwell Martin treasurer.

The Junior class numbered among its members Doris Quillen of the Biology department, the winner of the Science Medal, Anne Sowell, winner of the English Scholarship, and Virginia McCauley who was awarded a sweater bearing The Old English I, as token of her distinction as best-all-round athlete. Besides these, the class contained seven pledges to the Phi Theta Kappa honorary sorority—Roxana Foreman, Lucille White, Doris Quillen, Evelyn Cole, Mrs. Fanny Robinson Lee, Anne Sowell and Lucille Clardy. These girls, together with Elsie Grubb, are Senior members of that organnzation this year.

In addition to those just named, all of whom returned this year, our class claims the presidents of both the Eoline and the Harrisonian Literary Societies, Lucille Faucette and Elsie Grubb; the president of the Y. W. A., Wrenda Monroe; and the president of the Student Government, Ruth Cole.

Let us remember for a moment the privilege and exquisite pleasure that was ours in hearing the recital given by Mr. Schroetter in dedication of Intermont's new pipe organ. Let us live over again the evenings devoted to lyceum numbers as well as to student recitals. Lastly, let us revel once more in the delights of that glorious banquet tendered the Seniors of 1930 by the Juniors. These and other delightful memories come crowding to our minds, bringing the realization that such things are gone forever—that our stay at INTERMONT has ended. And now, still in life's morning, we stand atop the hill we have climbed, and look on toward the mountain ahead of us. Forgetting past failures insomuch as they discourage us, it is for us, the Seniors of 1930, to strive toward a new and higher goal—true usefulness.

—RUTH COLE, '30.

Class Prophecy

AS I was passing Kemble-Cochran's the other day I noticed a very attractive display of children's books. I immediately thought of my little nephew and went in to get a book of nursery rhymes for him. The clerk, seeing that I was not especially pleased with the copies she had shown me, offered to show me an advance manuscript copy of Mother Goose Rhymes which she informed me would not be published for seven years, six months, five weeks, four days, three hours, two minutes, and one second. It was an interesting book. There were the same characters that I had known in childhood, yet they were different. When I came to the picture of the "old woman who lived in the shoe" I had to stop and study the picture. The old woman was sitting on the doorstep looking very blue and lonely. To my surprise there were no heads peeping out the windows, around the hill, over the toe, et cetera. Then I read the jingle beneath the picture—"There was an old woman who lived in a shoe, and since her children have grown up she doesn't know what to do!" And further, I read:

" 'Old woman, why do you look so blue?'

" 'Oh,' she replied, 'all my children have grown up and gone away and I'm so lonesome! I know I scolded and fretted when they were little, but now I miss them so. Seven years, six months, five weeks, four days, three hours, two minutes, and one second ago they were all at Virginia Intermont and now they are scattered everywhere. Louise Sims is a famous modiste. All Paris and New York look to "Madame Loucie," as she is known. Liz Rohr is the secretary of the firm and also a stockholder. Frances Cox is a dramatic cartoonist on the Bluetrail Chautauqua circuit. Thelma Hamilton has the Hudson Agency in Norton, Virginia. She is one of Virginia's outstandng mechanics. Anne Sowell has just introduced buttermilk into South America. I always thought my little Anne would be a philanthropist.

" 'And guess what Ruth Cole is doing? She is Dean of Virginia Intermont. Ida Simon and Frances Jones are running the Tea House now. The girls could not live without it. Several of my children are associated in educational work. Ruth Gibson is a gym teacher at Wellesley. Nadine Skaggs has just been appointed Secretary of Education—you know that office has been added to the Cabinet. (I suppose that's the kitchen cabinet). Cornelia Gilmer has charge of a kindergarten in Hicktown and Beatrice Vartanian is teaching English in one of the leading universities of Armenia.

" 'Olga Dubuc and her husband Mac Taylor sailed two weeks ago to spend a year or year and a half at the Taylor estate in England. Edna Peacock is conducting a dancing school in Ucayalita.

" 'Anna Halsey has just perfected the most wonderful lotion: it is guaranteed to keep that schoolgirl complexion. Frances Boyd is one of the model office wives that we read of so much today. And say—I'll bet you could never guess who is at the head of Amelia Conservatory! Clay Farrar and Elise Reaguer!

" 'Have you heard the new musical comedy 'Are Parents Pickles?' Stella Blevins wrote it and I'm so proud of her. Which makes me think—Janice Williams has been receiving quite a bit of recognition lately as an actress. Her last appearance was in the 'Vanishing American.' She took the role of the American.

" 'Oh, now that you have started me talking about my children I just can't stop until I've told you of all of them. You must hear about Lucille Faucette, anyway. She married Mac Alexander who is president of a boys' school. Lucille is giving a course in manners, courtship, and marriage in this school. Annielynn Click is the originator of the famous 'Click Bunny.' Children adore it and play with it for hours. The mothers of the country are all blessing Annielynn.

" 'In the last fiddlers' contest Elsie Lawson won the beautiful tin cup. I'm so glad she has kept on with her music. Emily Bottimore made her debut only three weeks ago with the Chicago Civic Opera Company. She received many beautiful floral and vegetable offerings among which was a lovely bouquet of garlic tied with purple tulle. And I've never seen such lovely tomatoes!

" 'Marie Etheridge is a librarian in Terre Haute, Indiana. They say she keeps the books dusted better than anyone they've ever had. Shirley Selfe married a New Yorker and spends most of her time attending shows. Linwood Chandler is the most efficient telephone operator in the Woolworth building.

" 'Gladys Dudley is the hostess in a very popular night club and is very successful. Lois Lazenby has at last become a well-known interior decorator. Her latest book, 'Feeding the Family,' is just off the press.

" 'Some of my children are known as outstanding political figures. 'Mac' McCauley is the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States and Mary Gayle Norman is a speaker in the House of Representatives. Mary Mountain is a much sought after campaign speaker. (She speaks for either party).

" 'The Kiser Kink, the latest in permanent waving, is very popular now. Grace Kiser is the originator of this new rage. Virginia Gay illustrated Reba Wartman's book, 'The Haunted House,' or 'Who Killed the Cat?' It was published by Doris Quillen. Elsie Grubb is at the head of the Biology, Psychology, Chemistry, Zoology, Botany, and Sociology Departments at Princeton. In her spare time she paints portraits of famous grasshoppers.

" 'Betty May is traveling in France as the companion of Mrs. Snozzlebug. Sarah Fleming has had outstanding success as a dentist in Timbuktu. Billie Waddell is studying sculpture in Italy. She has chiseled many beautiful and exquisite figures from soap.

" 'It's strange how our children so often become the things we least expect them to. Nora Campbell is a veterinarian and is especially known for her work with mange. Mary Powell Eanes has invented a new style toothpick and will probably amass a fortune. Ruby Worley is one of our most prominent architects.

" 'Some of the girls are still in Bristol. Two have charge of departments at the H. P. King Company: Lucille Clardy, the cosmetic department, and Mildred Speer, the jewelry. Eva Preston Rhea is hostess at King College. Helen Harrop is general manager at Kelly-Green. Mr. Brown's assistant is Evelyn Fugate. Mr. McGhee has retired and Marjory has taken charge of his printing business.

" 'Evelyn Guinn is married to a famous Indian prince from Tapioca Billiminoca Tusgomego Spaghetto Formosa Junaluska. Amanda Wininger, the renowned aviatrix, has made a record flight over the Sahara Desert in her octo-motor plane, the 'Flying Horse.'

" 'Rhea Lampshades are known to all civilized people and also the people of Bristol. It is to Beuloxia Rhea that the credit goes for these marvelous shades. Leona Robinette is raising artichokes in the Ozark Mountains.

" 'Several years ago Peggy Hopkins Joyce was known all over the world, but now the picture of the famous divorcee, Ruth Baker, appears in the papers even more often than that of Miss Joyce.

" 'Hallie Saville is a nurse at King Memorial Hospital where Mary Jess Richmond is head surgeon. Beatrice Walls is Bristol's foremost chiropodist. Lucille White is a ticket seller at Roxy's Theatre and Evelyn Cole is at the head of the stock exchange in Wall Street.

" 'Margaret Bentley is Mrs. Gosch and I do hope her children won't swear. Laila Whittington is the beloved whistler of radio fans and is heard the second Tuesday in each week over station BUNK. Wrenda Monroe is a social worker in Zululand where she has taught many of the natives to thread needles. Kathryn Grayson is known around the world as the 'Girl from Scotland Yard.'

" 'Thyra Herndon was All American Forward last year and is now coaching in Paducah, Teheete. Minnie Parker Chesson is doing wonderful work in a school for the deaf, dumb, and blind where she is teaching Latin. Dorothy Hawks has put McClelland Barclay out of business. Mary Lee Mitchell and Ludwell Martin are both married.

" 'Mary Virginia Halsey is singing in Keith's Vaudeville. Mrs. Fannie Lee is the proud parent of Bristol's 'Most Perfect Baby.' Iris Johnson is proprietress of the largest roadhouse on the Lee Highway, and Bernice Combs is court reporter of the Supreme Court of Virginia.

" 'I'll declare—I've talked and talked. I just wanted to tell you about my children and I don't believe I left any out.'

" 'No wonder you are a lonesome old woman. I'm sure you miss your children.' "

I closed the book then. To think that I had found this story about the class of '30. "I'll take that book," I told the clerk.

"I'm sorry," she said, "but that book will not be on sale for seven years, six months, five weeks, four days, three hours, two minutes and one second. Won't you call again?"

AT the annual meeting of the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association held in Radford and Blacksburg, Va., last fall, the cup, pictured above, was awarded to the INTERMONT published by the class of 1929. It was donated by the Virginia Polytechnic Institute Bugle. This is the highest honor to be gained by our year book, naming it the best in Class C, the Junior College. We are happy over the success of our publication and we hereby wish to extend again our congratulations to the INTERMONT staff of 1929.

The Glee Club meets regularly once a week and thus prepares to give several entertainments. One annual event is a trip to Kingsport where a program is given. The Glee Club also has given programs in Lebanon, Abingdon, and a joint evening of music with the King College Glee Club at the Euclid Avenue Baptist Church.

Among the 'Stars'

THE review of our year's work in dramatics is punctuated with sighs and groans as we recall the hard work in nightly rehearsals—and with exclamations of joy as we think of the good times we have had, the great benefits derived, and the words of praise and commendation from those who have appreciated and enjoyed our efforts. As we think of all these things we can still say, "The play's the thing."

On the evening of November 30th came the first group of one-act plays. At this time a pretty fairy-like play, "Puck in Exile," was given by four of the younger members of the Dramatic class. Harriet Cooper, Winnie Foster, Augusta Pepper and Clarice Kitchin made up the cast.

The second play of this program gave opportunity for some of our new members to try out. This was a lively little farce entitled, "Varnish." Playing the various roles in this cast were Alberta Cox, Dorothy Yaeger, Virginia Thornhill, Virginia Greever and Virginia Collins.

Then followed a rather weird, uncanny little play which we might recall with a shiver. The cast of "The Ghost of Jerry Bundler" was composed of Peggy Pierce, Virginia McCauley, Margaret Ligon, Charlotte Taylor, Leola Davidson, Sarah Fleming, and Gale Norman.

February 22nd marked an evening of much pleasure when three very varied and altogether unusual plays were presented. The opening play for this occasion was a jolly farce, "Seven to One," which kept the audience in gales of laughter from beginning to end. The girls who played in this cast were Margaret Ligon, Helen Louise Bitner, Gladys Dudley, Ruth Cole, Alberta Cox, Reba Wartman, Virginia Thornhill, and Miriam Robinson.

Next came a very unusual and intensely dramatic play, "The Dog." Leola Davidson, Lois Nuckolls, and Carita Fleenor played the three roles of this play.

In bringing this evening of entertainment to an end Virginia McCauley, Peggy Pierce, Dorothy Yaeger, and Virginia Collins appeared in a hilariously funny burlesque, "Q," by Stephen Leacock.

After this there followed weeks of pleasurable work on our big three-act play, "So This Is London," which was presented on the evening of March 26th with such triumphant success that everyone felt fully repaid for all the hours of labor, thought and study we had given to this very excellent comedy. Some of our very best talent made up this cast: Louise Brewer, Virginia

McCauley, Dorothy Yaeger, Lois Nuckols, Janice Williams, Peggy Pierce, Sarah Fleming, Virginia Collins and Leola Davidson.

Two weeks later, April 12th, came another group of one-act plays which we shall not soon forget. A masterpiece of a play called, "Pink and Patches," was the first of the three plays on this program. This was a difficult play and the characterization was well portrayed by the four Bristol girls who composed the cast: Lucile Hayworth, Elizabeth McKee, Miriam Robinson and Lois Nuckolls.

Following this was another pretty artistic little play by the children of the Dramatic class, "The Smile Maker."

Closing the program an extremely funny comedy-farce, "Women-Folks," was given by seven girls, Virginia McCauley, Mary Don Carlos, Virginia Thornhill, Margaret Ligon, Helen Louise Bitner, Virginia Greever, and Dorothy Yaeger.

Work on the Commencement play is next in order. The play selected for this year is a recent Broadway success, a three-act comedy entitled, "Jonesy." The girls selected to play the roles of this play are Virginia McCauley, Lois Nuckolls, Louise Brewer, Janice Williams, Peggy Pierce, Dorothy Yaeger, Gladys Dudley, Virginia Collins, Leola Davidson, Miriam Robinson, and Sarah Fleming.

We have recently organized a chapter of the Delta Psi Omega Fraternity, a National Honorary Dramatic Society. The students who have done work in Dramatics of such merit and quality as to qualify for charter members of this National Fraternity are: Lucile Hayworth, Sarah Fleming, Virginia McCauley, Louise Brewer, Peggy Pierce, Dorothy Yaeger, Janice Williams, Leola Davidson, and Lois Nuckolls.

As we take this backward look, it is with some degree of pleasure and pride, for we are sure the occasions of our plays have made red-letter days in our year's calendar, always anticipated with greatest expectation and looked back upon with pleasure and delight. We know our work has not been in vain. The year has meant much to us, our ideals are higher and we shall struggle on to heights yet unattained.

The Young Woman's Christian Association occupies a distinct and important place in Intermont College life, which no other organization can fill.

The purpose of this Association is to associate young women in personal loyalty to Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord; to promote growth in Christian character and service through physical, social, mental and spiritual training; to become a social force for the extension of the Kingdom of God.

Phi Theta Kappa was organized in Columbia, Missouri, in 1918. It has grown from a state Honor Society for Women's Junior Colleges to the National Honorary Society for Junior Colleges for both men and women.

Nu Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa was founded at Virginia Intermont in 1926. Intermont has the distinction of having the first chapter east of the Mississippi. The chapter has gone forward quite a bit this year, and now has a chapter room which is partially furnished. It is hoped that the work will be carried on by succeeding chapters. A delegate was sent to the Grand Council at Fulton, Missouri, March 2nd, 3rd, and 4th.

Pledges are elected at the end of the first semester and the third quarter. The pledges elected after the first semester were Davida Davidson, Dorothy Streeter, Elizabeth Neel, Sarah Fleming, Rosalie Selden, Loving Hutchinson, Louie Will Treadwell, Edna Hatfield, and Mary Anna Triplett.

The active members are Lucille Clardy, Evelyn Cole, Roxana Foreman, Elsie Grubb, Fanny Lee, Doris Quillen, Anne Sowell, and Lucille White.

Basket-ball

AFTER hard training for over a month, the four teams of Intermont displayed their valor in the tournament played in the early part of March.

The Juniors walked away with the laurels, winning from the Seniors, the Specials, and the Hi-Skull Pirates. Their victories were due to superior passing and teamwork, to two persistent guards, and to two forwards who seemed not to be able to miss the basket.

At the annual Athletic Banquet, held this year in the college dining room and attended by the whole student body, the members of all four teams were at the table of honor, decorated to fit the occasion. The awards were made by the Director of Athletics, Miss Rhoda L. Nunnally.

Anne Sowell received the big white honor sweater, with the large old-English "I" on it. This is the greatest honor that can come to a girl at Intermont. It signifies not only that she is an outstanding basket-ball player but that she is proficient in other sports, that she takes an active part in extra-curricular activities of all kinds, and that her academic record is good. Anne is a member of the Phi Theta Kappa Honorary Society, a member of the Senior team, president of the Tennis Club, won the English scholarship in 1929, has received her High School Diploma, and her Concert Diploma in Piano at Intermont and is candidate for the Literary Diploma this year. She also takes an active part in the Y. W. A. and Y. W. C. A. work.

The three old-English "I's" went to Rosalie Selden, Junior, Mildred Wall, Junior, and Gladys Dudley, Senior. This award signifies outstanding basket-ball as well as good academic standing.

Those ten girls receiving the bronze basket-balls, and being given a place on the varsity team of Intermont were Harriet Brown, Rosalie Selden, Mildred Wall, Elsie Crugar, and Virginia Wood, all members of the Junior winning team; Mary Mildred McBride of the Special team; and Gladys Dudley, Thyra Herndon, Anne Sowell, and Mary Jess Richmond of the Senior team.

Block "I's" were awarded to all members of the winning team: Harriet Brown, captain, Rosalie Selden, Nedra Jones, Mildred Wall, Janet Stallard, Elsie Crugar, Virginia Wood, and Madeline Meador.

The numeral "30" was presented to all members of all the teams for steady practice and hard work.

As a whole, the basket-ball season was a success, and the games much more closely contested than the girls, or even Coach Mac, expected them to be.

Our Theme

The theme of our year-book we now hope to show.
If reminiscing you're fond of, you'll like it, I know.
Now this is our purpose—please get it, my dears—
To take you all back to your Mother Goose years,
To let you re-live those days now long past,
For there's something about them that will hold you steadfast.
But this is the question, "Do we ever outgrow
Those Mother Goose days of so long ago?"
We hold that you don't, and I'm sure you'll agree
If you'll take awhile off, and come reason with me.
The world is a shoe and we all live there in it,
Acting and living these rhymes every minute.
We're Marjory Daw with our ups and our downs—
Up, when Luck smiles; down, when she frowns.
We're Jackie Horner, who sits in a corner, and digs in a piece of pie.
The pie is stock market, the digger is us, and say! we all have a try!
You still have your tumbles like Jack and Jill.
Bother the stumbles! Your goal? "Highest Hill."
Then came Queen of Hearts, or perhaps 'twas the King,—
You gave your heart right away without saying a thing.
And so thru life, your rhymes go with you—
And you're very glad of it—now, really, aren't you?
So think these thoughts over, as you turn thru our book,
And when you have finished—try a second look!

Then there is the interesting case of the man who dropped a penny in the mail box, looked up at the town clock and said, "Well,—I've lost fifteen pounds"————

Which, in turn, reminds us of this brilliant conversation overheard on day:

"What time is it?"

"Thursday."

"I get off at the next stop."

Mil—"I'm not going to play with Bones any more."

Red—"What's the matter? I thought you and Bones were great friends?"

Mil—"We were, but we were playing a game, and she kicked me in the stomach when I had my back turned."

"Why worry? Today is the tomorrow that worried you yesterday."

And said, "Prepared? I am!"

Think what she'll miss
Sleeping in such a class!
(What clever satire!)

Mac—"Did you have a good time with Slack last night?"

Ruth—"Yes, we drove off in his car and went up a little hill and parked on the top. But it turned out to be a bluff."

Stengle—"I'm going out to Adam's and Eve's place."

Jane Green—"Adam's and Eve's place? I've never heard of that. Where is it?"

Stengle—"281 Apple."

Droopy—"My girl and I were out together the other day, and she got sore and walked home."

Liz Story—"Gosh, did you insult her?"

Droopy—"No, but we were horseback riding."

Ikey J.—"Isn't that man wonderful? He can actually make one feel hot or cold, happy or sad, at his slightest will."

Old Ruth Cole
Was a strict ole soul,
And a strict ole soul was she;
She called for her book
And she called for her pen
And she called for her proctors three—
(four, five, six, seven, etc.)
Every proctor she had a report
And a long report had she—
"Probation, much campus!" sang the proctors
"If they think they're slick,
We'll give 'em strict,"
Said Ruth Cole and her proctors three

It's so easy to shop at KING'S . . . .

so many of your needs under one roof

¶ Buying at King's saves time, as well as affording wider variety. Everything from toilet requisites to the major needs in apparel . . . and each in specialty departments where assortments are more varied than can be found elsewhere.

¶ And, no matter what the season, at King's there's an air of up-to-dateness not surpassed even in metropolitan stores, or your home stores wherever they may be.

Sonnet to An Elephant

or

White House Cure for Ants in the Pantry

THIS is a sonnet I here will sing thee,
Of thee, my trees, giant woods, Galli Curci!
A message rare from them I bring thee:
A free show's on at the store called Sterchi.
So come help sing and pray let's all be gay—
Just step down Moore and prance just like a belle.
Who killed that bird Cock Robin, anyway?
'Tis shame, ah me! the sparrow feels like—well—
Who cares for birds when we may have our Chang?
The dainty thing—he sets your heart awhirl,
He steps on you and "tummy" goes abang—
But what a gift suggestion for your girl!
Now, listen girls,—put this with all your wants:
A straight line goes directly thru two points.

JAVA NIGHTS

Singing in the Bathtub

A peaceful valley-town, between the lofty snow-capped mountains of Java; the lazy soft swishing sound of the ocean waves rolling on the wide sand covered beach; a hot tropic night; natives swinging their powerful nude bodies along the beaten paths, in tune with the weird melodies in the leaves of ancient trees; a pale moon, encircled by cloudy rings, predicting more heat for the day to come: this was the scene the young American couple had before and around them had they cared to look. But they couldn't, or at least they wouldn't, for they were in love. Ah! Love!—That indefinable something which comes to all but an ugly co-ed!

"I love you," panted he to her, holding her tenderly in his strong arms. "You are mine! I want you! I love you! I need you!" Their lips were very close, their young bodies hot from humidity.

A star fell over the horizon. All was quiet. And then—her stomach rolled . . .

Wild geese fly south when summer's done;
The swallows turn south too.
And so will we, oh Intermont, in autumn
Think of you.
We'll think, dear school, of days gone by
When we came back to you
And lived in these now sacred walls
And learned to love you, too!
We'll miss you when upon life's sea
We're tossed and thrown about.
We'll think of you—of your advice.
It's sure to help us out.
We'll envy girls within your watch
Their sleeping or their waking.
But pride will hold our heads up high
With progress that you're making.

My own Babe,

You've been wonderful honey. You have been the sweetest and most understanding person on earth.

Louise dear, you need never request my not loving you forever + ever. I could never forget you.

Now just be patient honey. I am coming from many miles away to see you just as soon as I can. You can trust me and believe me when I say that I am coming just as soon as I can.

Make all the plans that you want to for me and I shall be "Johnny on the spot" to carry them out.

It isn't like saying good bye for it will never be good bye for us.

I hope that you will come down South to me when the first opportunity presents itself. I shall always be looking for you.

These four years have
